MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT DESK

Dear Friends,

The financial year 2019-2020 has begun with the flourishing exhibitions and events which keeps all of us full of activities.

The 4th edition of Excellence Excellence Award (EEA) 2019 took place on 23rd March, 2019 at India Expo Mart, Greater Noida. That was such a wonderful, successful event and on behalf of IESA, I am thankful to the team of Exhibition Showcase for putting together the whole exhibition industry under one roof. Hearty congratulations to all the winners, including IESA Members for recognition of their achievements & hard work in front of industry. EEA is a great platform for honoring the achievements of Indian Event & Exhibition Industry.

A year back IESA assembled a chapter in Chennai under the leadership of Mr. Sunttosh NM and his team. Their dedication and hard work are an inspiration to all of us. They have become the family of more than 100 members in a year.

We are so happy to have such members with IESA family. On 26th March, 2019, IESA Chennai Chapter has celebrated their 1st Anniversary. Congratulations on first anniversary and the success of Chennai Chapter. My best wishes and support are always with them.

In April, 2019 Litmus Meroform completed 19 years of serving the exhibitions & events industry. I heartily congratulate Mr. Nanu Binu for achieving tremendous growth and have build eminent goodwill in the industry. It's our pleasure that we have your existence in IESA being Founder President and always found visionary leadership while working with him. Once again, congratulations from all of us for your wonderful journey of 19 years of success and we hope the same for the future also.

In this edition, we have wrapped up the main features of EEA 2019 and list of all winners. Hope you will also appreciate them and their splendid work.

Please do keeping write us your suggestions, vision and success stories.

Best Wishes,

H.K. Bhattad

President, IESA

AN ODE TO THE IRON MAN OF INDIA: STATUE OF UNITY

As you walk down the bridge to approach the mighty Statue of Unity, the membranes from Mehler Technologies provide you the shade.

The Statue of Unity, World's tallest statue at 182 m, was built in Memory of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel. As thousands of tourists walk to visit the Statue of Unity on the bank of Narmada River, what add to its beauty and a Multi-composed PVDF-lacquer system on both sides. 100% UV retardant FR membranes which are 100% recyclable, a good example of environmentally safe & sustainable architecture."

He adds: "The projects such as Statue of Unity demands long duration outdoor life of material and our Fabric comes with 15-years warranty and can is the bright white colour Membrane Roof over the Walkway which was supplied by Low & Bonar India Pvt Ltd (formerly Mehler Technologies India Pvt Ltd) and fabricated by M/s. Construction Catalysers with entire detailing coming from Maffies Engineering. L&T was the main contractor for the project.

"We are proud to be associated with this prestigious project," says Mr. Raja Kishore Dash, Nation Sales Manager, Low & Bonar India Pvt Ltd, adding, "We have supplied 13000 sqm of Tensile Fabric for the Walkway & VIP Stand as shown in the image. The Fabrics used are Valmex FR 1000 Mehatop F1 & Valmex FR 1400 Mehatop F1 having weight of 1050 gsm & 1350 gsm respectively which is manufactured in Germany. VALMEX® MEHATOP® F1 is the first weldable PVDF lacquering system with a TiO2 front side base primer, last long till 20-25 years if maintained properly." There are examples of tensile projects in India like Sahara Amby Valley, Dr. D.Y. Patil Cricket Stadium, Navi Mumbai where the fabrics are performing very well from past 15-20 years.

Mehler Technologies Fabrics have been used in many prestigious projects like Shri Atal Bihari Vajpayee International Cricket Stadium, Lucknow; ITO Skywalk New Delhi, Biswa Bangla Gate, Kolkata; Terminal 2, Indira Gandhi International Airport, New Delhi; Metro Junction Mall, Mumbai, etc. The company also supplies many products for Events and Exhibitions like Fabrics for event Hangers and Pagodas and a range of interior products for stall design and construction.

Explaining the advantages of Membrane structures, Mr. Dash adds: "In addition to the classic building materials of stone, concrete, steel, wood and glass, technical textiles are being increasingly used both on new builds and in refurbishments. Such membrane structures give the buildings a special aesthetic appeal. They are able both to integrate into the body of the building and also to provide contrast. Membrane constructions highlight a building's functionality and become an identifying feature of the venue."

He concludes, "The advantages of membrane structures become particularly clear in the case of roofing. They are lighter than conventional materials, are entirely or in large part prefabricated at the assembly company and can be put up on site very quickly. This saves time, keeps scheduling reliable and reduces construction costs appreciably. Membrane structures also fulfil modern requirements in respect of sustainability: less material, fewer equipment and shorter build times mean lower CO<sub>2</sub> emissions and the potential for recycling."

LITMUS MEROFORM : Celebrating the Glorious 19 years of Excellence

An exclusive interview with Mr. Binu Nanu, Founder Director, Meroform India Pvt. Ltd.

1. Please introduce yourself and Litmus Meroform?

Meroform is a millennial baby. Born on 10th April, with no resources but lots of hopes and dreams.

I strayed into this business – let's say by accident. I passed out from Institute of Paper Technology, currently IIT, Roorkee and had a very successful stint when this invitation to join exhibition industry came. The only commonality in 1981 was that paper making and exhibition stalls, both used wood and bamboo as raw material. My only expertise was management. How to organise and get things done.

2. How has the journey of Litmus Meroform been so far?

In one word – Happy. We are a happy company. And, I think, therefore we are a successful company.

We never focussed just on profits. We always believed that profit is a by product of good service and delivery. We also worked hard to create that depth and breadth of knowledge. To keep updated on technologies, keep abreast of the techniques in management. I think this has helped us to effortlessly navigate through the various aspects of BTL-Exhibitions, Events, Retail display and signs, Museums etc. We never felt that the basic needs of all this are diverse. We see it an aspect of marketing where an experience is created. This philosophy has probably helped us grow. Currently, we have seven branches, four divisions and two hundred plus employees.

3. What are the professional ethics & values that set MEROFORM on the pinnacle of success always?

The core professional ethics and values of the group are based on integrity, transparency and attitude to walk that extra mile with a smile for the customer. These ethos have transpired to allow the group to set industry standards for customer service and satisfaction. And, that is the corner stone of our business – your trust over the years.

Add to that the ingredient of quality. When we say quality, we just don't mean only the quality of final delivery,

← Binu Nanu
Founder Director

Roopna Binu →
Director

← Ashwin Binu
Director

MS Vinod →
Director

but quality in every aspect including service to the client. We consider that understanding the client's needs and finding the best possible options of delivery is part of the quality drive.

As regarding value system, we call ourselves 'Mero Family'. Management prestigious organisations and projects. To name a few, India Pavilion at World Expo 2005, Aichi Japan, Tata Nano Launch at Auto Expo, multiple projects for various world leaders in exhibition organisation, stalls for many MNCs, Virasat-e-Khalsa Museum at Anandpur Sahib, India Pavilion at always updated our inventory based on client's and industry requirements. Also, we have transformed ourselves from an infrastructure providing company to a knowledge partner.

8. After 10 years, where you would like to see your company to move?

'Make in India'. I believe it's possible and doable. Ten years back nobody would have believed that China would be the manufacturing capital of the world. I think that the next ten years will make India the Services Capital of the world. We can do it and I believe that Litmus Meroform will play a part in it.

9. If you had one piece of advice to the young generation of event & exhibition industry, what would it be?

Keep Excellence as the single most important motto in your life. Gain knowledge. Continuously. All the time. Money should not be the only reason why you are here. Money is important, but not the most important thing. Be happy. Do what you like. Go where your passion takes you. You will succeed.

10. What has been your biggest professional challenge till date?

Keeping abreast in a changing world. The sphere of knowledge is changing every day. It's like the ever-expanding universe. Catching up is difficult, let alone keeping abreast. But I try. Always.

experts have told us that we shouldn't use that term, for whatever reasons they cite. But, we firmly believe that ours is a family and we will stand by our members in a need or necessity.

4. How do you define success of 19 years and what are your ideals?

Our success was not an accident but we have worked hard through all these years.... we have created, learnt, experimented since the beginning and still continues to do so.

5. What was the most important part of your in the whole business journey with Litmus Meroform?

If you are asking about milestones, we have many in the journey of 19 years. We have been involved with various World Expo at Astana in 2017 etc, prestigious conferences like Vibrant Gujarat or Make in India These are just some examples.

6. What drives you to keep going when it's really tough?

My family, my team and the vision ...all have been driving force for me to reach where we are today. Whenever it gets tough, I think of these three things.

7. What are the innovations and new elements introduced in recent years to make it more relevant and helpful for exhibition industry?

We are a dynamic company and to keep doing new things. We try to adapt new technologies. We have
