The much-awaited gathering of the Indian Exhibition Industry was finally held in person after the gap of two and half years. Due to its success in giving the industry a great platform to network, and to provide an opportunity for business connections, the event received a very positive review from the fraternity. Speaking about the EEA2022, Raghav Khosla, Group Editor, Exhibition Showcase said, "The event turned out to be a great platform for recognising the torchbearers of the industry because in these last two and half years, the industry had gone through very difficult times. There were a lot of businesses affected, many of them closed, and there were a lot of employees who lost their jobs. But it was very important for us at Exhibition Showcase for the EEA initiative to actually recognise those torch bearers who kept alive the hope of our industry and kept servicing the industry during these times and therefore we came up with 6th edition of Exhibition Excellence Awards at this point of time. This was our sincere effort to recognize the efforts of the unsung heroes of the exhibition industry - the industry which is the catalyst to our economic growth and harbinger of business tourism. We are thankful to the industry associations for extending their valuable support & acknowledgement to this initiative. I think that the stature of this initiative reflects from the depth & quality of government bodies & national & international industry associations who have endorsed this event."

The event was very much appreciated by all stake holders, participants and received a very good response from the fraternity.

Secretary General, PHDCCI, Ravinder Sethi, MD, R.E. Rogers, Balvinder Singhi Sawhney, Assistant Secretary General, FICCI and later joined by P Udayakumar, Director, NSIC.

This year's EEA, Exhibition Showcase introduced a very special CEO's Forum where in the objective of the forum was to spread insights and knowledge amongst the stake holders like what have been the recent developments of the resumption of exhibitions, how industry is pacing up and what are going to be the trends in the near future? The session was moderated by Raghav Khosla, Group Editor, Exhibition Showcase, and the panellists were questioned on several important topics pertaining to the sector.
